Moving on to a University Degree

The list over the next few pages highlights the articulation routes that are currently available for Fife College students who want to move on to university after completing their HNC or HND.

These are listed by the course studied at the College and the degrees it articulates to, and shows the routes which will allow you to progress to a university course with no loss of time and with full credit for your HN qualification (i.e. HNC to year 2 and HND to year 3). We have included these routes in purple.

Sometimes universities offer generic routes to specific named degrees for college students studying an HN qualification, without a formal agreement in place with each individual college. We have included these routes in green.

The courses in red are University degrees that you can study where all your classes are timetabled at a Fife College campus. You can access these degree routes once you have completed a related HND. So after three years of study, you can graduate with a degree from the University and an HND from Fife College. Some routes also offer you a fourth year of study to gain an University Honours degree.

Course marked in purple text
Articulation routes agreed between Fife College and the University

These routes indicate that direct entry to year 2 or 3 of a university degree is possible on successful completion of an appropriate HN course. These routes have been formally recognised by the College and the University.

Course marked in green text
Other routes where progression is possible

Other routes where progression is possible means that entry on to a university degree may be possible on successful completion of an appropriate HN course. There is no formal agreement currently in place between the College and the University.
